Retargeted Marketing is a form of online advertising that can help you keep your brand in front of AIS website visitors even if they haven’t attended a conference or visited your own website. Using your own ads, visitors to the AIS website will then see your information in other areas of their internet browsing.

What is Retargeted Marketing?

Retargeted Marketing is a form of online advertising that can help you keep your brand in front of AIS website visitors even if they haven’t attended a conference or visited your own website. Using your own ads, visitors to the AIS website will then see your information in other areas of their internet browsing.

AIS is offering Exhibitors access to ALL members through this retargeting program.

You will work directly with our contact at Feathr to build your marketing campaign.
